Ruling reversed regarding payment of courts legal fees

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

Although the ultimate decision on who will foot the bill for attorney fees associated with the six-year battle with the 46th Circuit Trial Court has yet to be made, Crawford County officials did receive some good news last week.

Michigan Court of Appeals justices reversed a ruling made in Circuit Court, which said that Otsego County did not have to pay a share of the attorney fees for a dispute with the 46th Circuit Trial Court.

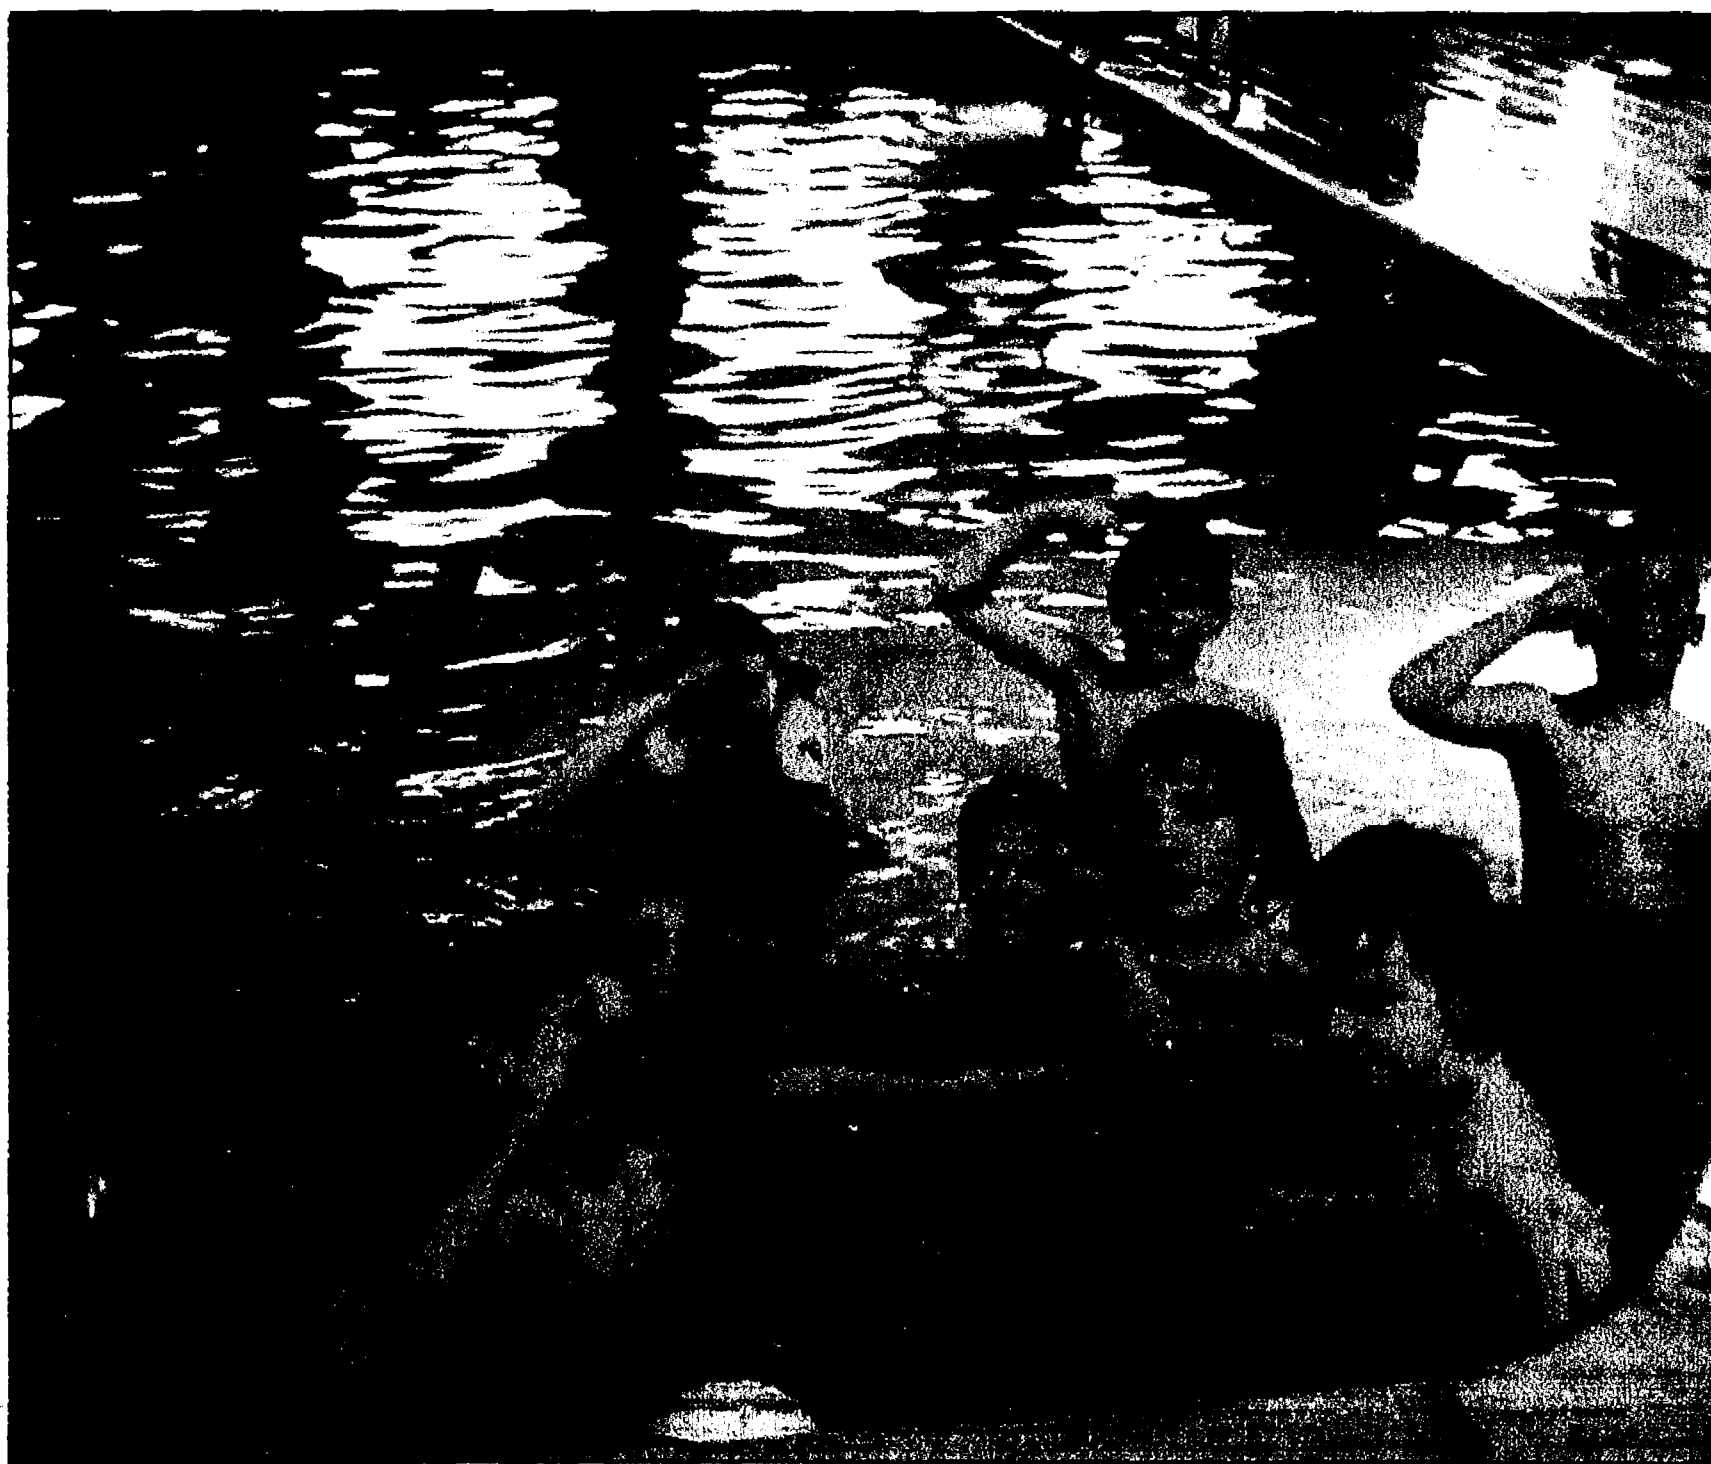

The 46th Circuit Trial Court covers Crawford, Kalkaska and Otsego Counties.

The 46th Circuit Trial Court sued Crawford and Kalkaska Counties, in December, 2000, for refusing to allocate funds for the benefit plans.

Crawford and Kalkaska Counties disputed the benefits because officials said it would place unfunded liability on the counties. Crawford and Kalkaska County officials filed

Family members protest police labor issues

by Dan Sanderson

Wives and daughters of Grayling City Police officers protested shift changes, morale issues and unresolved contract negotiations at the Grayling City Council meeting last week.

Family members of police officers and Department of Public Works employees attended the Grayling City Council meeting to voice their concerns over city labor issues.

Starting April 14, the Grayling City Police Department will switch from having officers work 12-hour shifts to working eight hour shifts.

Grayling City Manager David Thayer, who is the acting police commissioner for the city, said he believes that officers should work no more than 10-hour shifts unless there is a natural disaster or an emergency.

Thayer said the 12-hour shifts became an issue in February, when an officer called in sick, and two officers worked 18-hour shifts.

Prison crew contract terminated following tax dispute

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

A dispute over the payment of $40 per year in city income taxes has resulted in the cancellation of a work contract for a prison crew in the community.

The work crew from Camp Lehman, which is located on Hartwick Pines Road in Grayling Township, will no longer be working in the City of Grayling as of April 9.

Thomas M. Birkett, the warden of the Standish Maximum Correctional Facility, which oversees operations at Camp Lehman, informed the city that the Public Works Agreement between the prison and city was being terminated due to the demand that prison employees pay city income taxes.

Grayling City Manager David Thayer said the dispute over payment of the city income tax with prison officials began in early February.

Charlie VanBuren, who supervises the prison crew that works in the city, was inquiring about his wife's payment of the tax levy. City officials informed VanBuren that he was required

Camp Lehman, which is considered to be an unsecured correction facility, can house up to 582 prisoners and has 105 employees. The prison was established in the 1950s. Only prisoners convicted of non-violent crimes who are within two years from their earliest date of possible parole are kept at the camp. The camp has 11 work crews, which provide services for various municipalities and organizations.

Assessments for downtown streetscape project approved

Grayling City officials took another step forward with plans to revitalize the downtown business district.

The Grayling City Council, following a public hearing last week, directed city staff to prepare special tax assessments for the $1.3 million Michigan Avenue streetscape project.

The project will include installing brick paved sidewalks, landscaping, decorative street lights, replacing sewer and water mains and repaving Michigan Avenue and Burton Court streets.

The City of Grayling was awarded a $519,767 Community Development Block Grant from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation to help pay for water, sewer, and street upgrades in the downtown business district for the project.

A total of $224,100 of the project will be paid for through

City snow day policy rejected by council

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

A proposal to close city hall when there are hazardous road conditions due to snow melted away last week.

The Grayling City Council, by a 3-to-2 vote, rejected a proposal to close city hall during inclement weather.

Grayling City Manager David Thayer proposed the policy that would have closed city offices to the public when the Crawford AuSable School District calls off school due to inclement weather and hazardous road conditions. If the school delayed starting times, the city hall would have had the same delayed starting time to open city offices.

Under the policy, city employees would have been allowed to delay coming to work if they were unable to access the roads or if the roads were extremely unsafe to travel to city hall.

After the road conditions had improved, the city employees would have been required to report to work. The employees would not have had to use their accumulated leave time to cover the hours missed from work due to road conditions.

The policy did not apply to emergency employees from the city's Department of Public Works, police and fire departments, who were expected to report to work as scheduled.

Grayling Mayor Larry Akers, and City Council Members Kim McClain and Dennis Robinson voted against adopting the policy.

"The trend is to run government like a business," Robinson said. "They have to show up whether it's snowing or not and they have to be there to help maintain the bottom line."

McClain said employees need to adjust their schedules to safely travel to work when there are snow covered roads.

"It's part of living in northern Michigan," McClain said.

Roger Moshier, the mayor pro-tem, and Council Member Tom Wellman, voted in favor of the policy.

Thayer said he recommended the policy to close or delay the opening of city hall so that employees would not risk getting into an accident on the way to work, potentially causing them to be away from work for longer periods of time due to injuries.

Sponsors sought for Fire and Burn Safety program

The Grayling City/Township Fire Department is continuing its commitment to teaching fire prevention to youth in the community.

Russell H. Strohpaul Jr., fire chief for the Grayling City/Township Fire Department, said the fire department kicked-off plans for its annual Fire and Burn Safety program for the children of Grayling.

Over 900 youngsters, ages 5 through 12, will receive educational fire prevention materials created and geared to each specific age level. This comprehensive program includes fire safety guidebooks that contain 24 activity pages designed by educators to stimulate the child's awareness and independent thinking about everyday fire hazards he or she may encounter. Various other fire safety booklets, folders, posters and brochures are made available to encourage the prevention of destructive fires, painful burns, disfiguring injuries and needless death.

Bob Koch, the area fire safety coordinator for the National Fire Safety Council, Inc., will be helping fire fighters in planning and delivering programs to the school children. The National Fire Safety Council is a federal tax-exempt nonprofit organization under the Internal Revenue Service Code and all contributions are tax-deductible.

The Grayling City/Township Fire Department is in the process of mailing sponsor request letters explaining the entire program to area business, industrial and professional leaders, asking for their financial support to help cover the cost of the materials used by the department. Anyone who does not receive a letter who would like to be a sponsor can send a check to the fire department made out to the National Fire Safety Council.

Strohpaul stressed to prospective sponsors that this is the only program of this type that the Grayling City/Township Fire department will be conducting.

Anyone who receives a solicitation request on behalf of the fire department, especially by phone or in person, who does not have a letter from Strohpaul, is encouraged to contact the fire department immediately.

Prison crew contract terminated following tax dispute to pay the tax for his supervision of the prison crew when they were working in the city.

Although Camp Lehman is located outside of the city, Thayer said the state statute governing the income tax collection requires businesses with 10 or more employees to calculate their earnings that they receive while working in a municipality that collects an income tax.

"We don't play favorites," Thayer said. "I'm not going to blink my eyes and say that one person has to pay city income taxes and one person does not."

VanBuren paid the income tax for the last two years.

Thayer said he was seeking an Attorney General's opinion on whether an employee whose workstation is outside of their physical location of their employer must pay the tax.

"It's no different than the City of Lansing," Thayer said. "There are thousands of state employees that work in Lansing, and they're all required to pay income taxes."

Thayer, who became Grayling City manager last October, said he was troubled that prison officials opted to terminate the contract before an opinion from the Attorney General's office was issued.

"Whatever the Attorney General says is what we're going to do - that's called rule of law," Thayer said.

The work crews mow grass in the city, shovel snow, pick up trash and brush and help maintain the cemetery.

Between February 2006 to January 2007, the prison crew worked 191 days in the City of Grayling. Camp Lehman was paid $13,500 for the service.

The city is required to pay $15, per day, per prisoner for the service. Of that amount, the prisoner receives $2.50 and the supervisor receives a $12.50 supervision fee. The contract with the city was for up to eight prisoners, but generally six prisoners were on a crew, Thayer said.

Thayer said he was going to write a letter to Department of Corrections Director Patricia L. Caruso to see if she believes the contract should have been terminated before the tax payment issue was resolved. Thayer has also been in contact with Rep. Matt Gillard, D-Alpena, over the issue.

Thayer believes that the state and local municipalities must work together, especially as the state and Department of Corrections deal with the state budget crisis.

"I imagine that they're looking for every penny that they can find, hoping not to make another cut," Thayer said.

Russ Marlan, the spokesperson for the Department of Corrections, said department officials believe that requiring a prison crew supervisor to pay the tax would be like asking a State Police Trooper policing an accident in Grayling to pay the tax or a Department of Natural Resources officer patrolling the AuSable River in the city to pay the tax.

"It was a bit of an odd request and where do you draw the line?" Marlan said. "It would be impossible to track when he did have to pay or did not have to pay the income tax."

Camp Lehman, which is considered to be an unsecured correction facility, can house up to 582 prisoners and has 105 employees. The prison was established in the 1950s. Only prisoners convicted of non-violent crimes who are within two years from their earliest date of possible parole are kept at the camp. The camp has 11 work crews, which provide services for various municipalities and organizations.

"This is not a money maker for us," Marlan said. "It's a way for us to give back to the areas where we have correctional facilities and a way to provide inmates to do a variety of tasks that may not get done."

Thayer said that he is waiting for a list of essential services that the prison crews perform from Steve Doyle, the city's cemetery sexton and zoning administrator, who coordinates work with prison officials.

Thayer said the city will identify other resources to do the work, and acknowledged that some of the jobs may not be done in a timely manner.

The City of Grayling has been collecting an income tax since 1972. The city collects 1 percent of residents' income earned in the city, and 0.5 percent from non-residents who work in the city.

Thayer said the city would stand to lose between $50,000 and $75,000 of the overall $500,000 collected annually from people who work in the city but have an employer located out of the city if the tax is no longer collected.

For several years, city officials used funds from the income tax for street paving, sidewalk construction, installation of storm sewers and construction of curbs and gutters. In November 2002, city residents agreed to change the ordinance for the income tax, allowing funds generated to be used for other capital improvement and recreational projects.

Thayer said a city who collects an income tax actually receives more revenue sharing from the state since they are gathering local dollars for projects.

"The city fathers had the foresight to add the tax revenue and were trying to be a progressive city, coming up with a pay to pay for the services for the people," Thayer said.

a counter-claim against the court, alleging fraud for misrepresenting the costs of the benefits. A claim was also filed against Otsego County, accusing officials there of conspiring with the court by withholding information on the cost of the benefits.

Former 46th Circuit Trial Court Chief Judge Alton T. Davis issued a court order, forcing the counties to fund the benefits plans.

Davis was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Michigan Court of Appeals in July, 2005.

Payment of attorney fees, which have been projected to be over $2 million, is the only unresolved issue in the dispute.

In July 2006, the Michigan Supreme Court, ruled that the funding of enhanced pension benefits and retirement health care benefits sought by the administration for the 46th Circuit Trial Court, were not reasonable and necessary to the serviceability of the court and that Crawford and Kalkaska counties were not contractually obligated to appropriate funds for the benefit plans. The Supreme Court also said the court's authority to demand appropriations from the counties was limited to meeting critical judicial needs. The justices also said that the court had to pursue benefits through negotiations and bargaining with the county boards.

Court of Appeals judges ruled that the request for additional funding for the enhanced employee benefits was not made in bad faith by 46th Circuit Trial Court. In addition, the justices said that the inherit power doctrine supplies a court with the authority to take whatever steps are reasonably necessary to fulfill the judicial function, including undertaking litigation to secure necessary funding, employing counsel and recovering reasonable attorney fees spent on that litigation.

Michigan Court of Appeals Justices Brian K. Zahra, Janet T. Neff and Jessica R. Cooper reversed a ruling made by Kent County Circuit Judge Dennis Kolenda. Kolenda felt that Otsego County, the fiscal agency for the 46th Trial Court, was brought into the legal dispute with "clean hands" and was therefore not required to pay the court's attorney fees.

"Although the counties did trigger the underlying litigation, having prevailed in the Supreme Court, those counties' hands are as clean as Otsego County's," the justices wrote in their opinion. "Having defended their public funds against a good-faith yet ultimately unsuccessful attack from the Trial Court, in the process engendering important developments in the law of such controversies, Crawford County and Kalkaska County performed a valuable public service."

Dave Stephenson, chairman of the Crawford County Board of Commissioners, said that local officials were pleased to have the issue regarding Otsego County's obligation to pay legal bills clarifying with the county boards.

"If we have to end up paying, it certainly means that all three counties will have to share that expense, but we're still pretty hopeful that we're not going to have to pay," said Stephenson of the appeal over the legal fees to the Supreme Court.

a special assessment levied on downtown business owners, based on the amount of property they own fronting Michigan Avenue.

The remaining funds will be paid from the city's water fund, sewer fund, major streets fund, income tax fund and general fund.

"If we don't do anything, nothing is going to change so we have to do something to effect that change in the community," Grayling City Council Member Kim McClain said.

Construction downtown is expected to begin on Aug. 1, avoiding the start of the summer tourism season and the AuSable River Canoe Marathon festival.

Grayling City Manager David Thayer said business owners will be given the flexibility to pay tax assessments off in one year or over a period of 11 years.

A second public hearing on the tax assessments will be held on Monday, April 30.

Not all people at last week's city council were in favor of the project.

Robert Shaw, a member for the Grayling Masonic Lodge, said he did not believe the streetscape project would improve the downtown business climate.

"Putting trees along the street is a waste of money," Shaw said. "We had planters out there, and it was nothing but a headache."

Township to appoint fire board of appeals

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

The Grayling Township Board is in the process of appointing a fire board of appeals in hopes of resolving a year long legal dispute with a commercial business.

The township board is seeking members to sit on a fire board of appeals, a board that will review decisions made by the Grayling City/Township Fire marshal and township building inspector.

The appointment of the board was requested by Michelle and Kelly Elmy, the owners of DuBois Lumber and Rental Center, which opened their new store next to the Grayling Township Hall in February, 2006.

Just prior to opening, Grayling City/Township Fire Department Fire Marshal Travis Roberts and Township Building Inspector Bob Dixon advised the Elmys a storage building for the business could not be used because the building did not meet International Fire Code and Michigan Building Code standards.

Specifically, the fire and building officials said that since a rack storage system used to store building materials was in the building, an automatic sprinkling system needed to be installed as a safety precaution for employees and the public.

The township filed a lawsuit in Crawford County Circuit Court against the Elmys, seeking to compel them to comply with the building and fire codes. The Elmys filed a counter-claim, seeking an injunction to keep the township from enforcing the ordinance and for attempting to deny them the use of their property. The Elmys spent $1.5 million to relocate the business from Norway Street in the City of Grayling to M-72 West in Grayling Township.

A temporary occupancy permit was issued to DuBois Lumber that allows the business to stay open and to use the storage building as long as no materials are stored above 12 feet in the building.

"They see it one way, we see it the other, and we have the temporary occupancy permit in place until this gets resolved," said Bill Carey, a Grayling attorney who represents the Elmys.

An attempt to mediate the dispute failed in December.

Now, the township board is in the process of appointing a fire board of appeals to handle the dispute.

The panel will include an industrial safety specialist, an architect or engineer, a general contractor, a fire engineer and a representative from general industry who is familiar with fire codes.

Ed Holtcamp, the Beaver Creek Township Fire Chief, advised the township as they have been planning the board.

Grayling Township Supervisor Terry Wright said that the township had a list of potential appointments to the board from the region. The township board, however, delayed appointing the board because Rich Jaskowski, the Grayling Township attorney, advised them the board could not pay for the service under provisions in the International Fire Code.

"Most of the people we were going to appoint are from Traverse City, and they are not going to come over here and do this for nothing," Wright said.

Now, the township will seek qualified professionals in the community or who live nearby to volunteer to sit on the board.

The fire board of appeals will decide if the sprinkler system is needed in the DuBois Lumber storage, or if a suitable alternative can be recommended. The board will also address the placement of fencing around the outside storage at the business.

"The only recourse I have is to go in front of this board," said Kelly Elmy, who is seeking to continue using the storage building as it was built and avoid installing the costly fire suppression equipment.

While Grayling Township and the City of Grayling share joint operation of the fire department, the fire board of appeals will only hear matters for cases in the township's jurisdiction. The board will be appointed for two years.

"Every municipality has to have their own, but not many do because this does not come up very often," Wright said.

Houghton Lake State Police trooper arrested for felonies

The Michigan State Police arrested one of its own last week for allegedly using a credit card to obtain money, and then making a false police report to claim the credit card was stolen.

Trooper Neil Holton, 49, of the Michigan State Police Houghton Lake Post was arraigned on Thursday, March 29 in the 83rd District Court in Roscommon County on a count of filing a false police report and one count of obtaining money under false pretenses. He faces up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine if convicted on the felony charges.

The charges were authorized by the Attorney General's Office as a result of an investigation by the Denton Township Police Department and the Michigan State Police. Holton was arrested by the Michigan State Police on March 29.

Russ Smith, the assistant commander for the Michigan State Police's Seventh District, which includes the Houghton Lake post, said the charges against Holton involved the use of a credit card between Dec. 6, 2006 and Jan. 5, 2007. Holton used the credit card, but then made a report that the credit card was used by someone else and had been stolen, Smith said.

Holton is currently suspended without pay.

Holton enlisted with the Michigan State Police in 1987. He served at the Lapeer and Detroit posts before he was assigned to the Houghton Lake post in 1992.

Troopers from the Houghton Lake Post of the Michigan State

Police are assigned to cover Crawford County.

"The Michigan State Police has a long-standing tradition of demanding the highest possible standards of professional conduct from its enforcement and civilian members," Smith said. "To that end, all allegations of misconduct are aggressively investigated."

"Alleged violations of administrative rules are also investigated thoroughly and acted upon in a manner consistent with current labor-relations law and bargaining unit agreements," Smith continued. "Regardless of whether a criminal charge results in a conviction, employees can still be subject to administrative penalties resulting from violations of department policy."

State's budget crisis nearing critical stage

MICHIGAN'S STATE budget crisis crunches forward, with not an end in sight.

The calendar dictates certain crisis points, however, while Gov. Jennifer Granholm, the Republican controlled state senate, and the Democratic controlled state house, like tentative boxers, poke and jab and punch, gingerly dancing around the ring.

One crisis point is September 30. That's when the 2006-07 fiscal year ends, and it looks as if the state treasury will be about $900 million short of making ends meet.

The numbers may bounce around because revenue estimates may vary from day to day, but the September 30 year end, means changes must be made right about now if the books are to balance and government can proceed uninhibited.

Gov. Granholm has picked May 1 as "Drop Dead Day." If no plan is in place by May 1 to balance the books on September 30, she says state government except for essential services, such as prisons and police work, will shut down until solutions can be found. So much for Crisis No. 1.

A SECOND CRISIS point is October 1. That's when the 2007-08 new fiscal year begins, and once more the state budget will be short but by an estimated $3 billion or so.

That's because last year's legislature voted to end the state's business activities tax (BAT) on December 31, 2007. The old legislature did not offer any substitute tax or other way to replace that $3 billion in lost revenue, so the buck was passed to the new legislature elected last November.

Gov. Granholm claims it is one crisis rather than two, but Republican legislators treat it as two separate crises, pursuing solutions one at a time.

Two solutions at one time are very unlikely. In fact, coming up with an adequate answer to the short-range shortage in time to avoid completely at least some September 30 fiscal disturbance is problematic.

Finding $900 million in a few weeks may be possible, but finding another $3 billion at the same time just won't happen.

Republicans act as if curtailing present spending will solve Crisis No. 1 — the current shortfall. This is the no-tax but bigger-cut crew at work.

Democrats — Gov. Granholm and House Speaker Andy Dillon — agree to some spending reductions, but claim that more revenue is needed, too.

Republicans seem to favor all spending cuts, no new taxes.

Democrats want some new taxes, and not all cuts.

That's an attitudinal schism which must be bridged before any practical answers can be found, either to solve Crisis No. 1, and certainly to solve the longer range Crisis No. 2.

IN MY OPINION, there's a Crisis No. 3 that in the long run is even more important.

This year's immediate problem may be handled with short range answers, and next year's problem of replacing business activities tax revenues likely will command a short-term answer by shuffling among taxes to put another patch on our tax system.

The longer range Crisis No. 3 is a complete examination and overhaul of Michigan's entire system of taxation, including the constitutional earmarks on funds and limitations on taxation, many of which have been added to the constitution from time to time.

The goal must be a tax system that is fair, substantial, business-attractive and yet adjustable enough to meet emerging and changing needs of people which are the proper responsibility of state and local governments.

TAX THEORY — Taxes are necessary. Governments couldn't operate without them. Taxes provide benefits that reach all people.

One theory of taxation is summed up in this little rhyme:

"Don't tax you and don't tax me. Tax that guy behind the tree."

The same theory works for government spending, too: "Don't cut you and don't cut me. Cut that guy behind the tree."

An old adage about taxes has made the rounds for a long time. I first heard it more than 50 years ago from then state Sen. Clyde Geerlings of Holland, who headed the state senate taxation committee in other years of crisis.

"The art of taxation," Sen. Geerlings told this then-young reporter, "is to extract the largest handful of feathers from the goose with the least amount of squawk."

'In God We Trust' is on new coin

To the editor:

Joseph Crawford of Onaway is mistaken in his recent letter to the Avalanche that stated his belief that the new U.S. dollar coin has removed the phrase "In God We Trust." Readers should be made aware that this phrase (which is our National Motto) has now been located to the edge of the coin, along with "E Pluribus Unum" and the year the coin is minted. This information is available online at: http://www.usmint.gov/mint_programs/\$1coin/index.cfm

In February, Grayling Mercy Hospital opened its new Emergency Department to serve Crawford County and the surrounding communities. While the new Emergency Department was built for many different types of patients, those who need care after a sexual assault were especially considered in the new design.

These patients are seen by a nurse immediately when they present to the waiting room, and taken to a private room especially designed for them. This room is larger than most of the others, with an adjoining bathroom where a patient may shower and change clothes after the exam. The room is set up for the patient's comfort, but is also arranged to facilitate the collection of forensic evidence by a Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE) or other Emergency Department staff. All equipment that may be needed is located in the room, and shelves line one wall so that the sexual assault kit, evidence, and paperwork may be kept together and well-organized.

The room is large enough for the patient to be comfortable, and still have room for a family member or friend, and an advocate from River House, Inc. River House continues to be available as part of the Sexual Assault Response Team (SART) that has been in place for many years. Along with the Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner, a River House advocate will respond to the hospital to be a support person for the patient, and offer counseling opportunities and a safe place for the patient to stay.

Safety is another important aspect of the new Emergency Department. It is a completely locked unit, with video cameras at entrances, exits, and parking areas. This allows for a patient to feel safe after a sexual assault or domestic violence incident.

Different entrances now separate the ambulance traffic from the walk-in traffic. Ambulances enter at one end of the department, and the walk-in entrance is now beside the main hospital entrance.

During April, as Sexual Assault Awareness is highlighted, the COOR Coalition Against Domestic and Sexual Violence is proud to have these enhanced services for survivors of sexual violence in our community. The COOR Coalition works to reduce domestic and sexual violence through a coordinated effort of prevention, education and collaboration.

Better breathing means better living

For most people, the simple act of breathing barely warrants a thought during an average day. But for the millions of Americans with chronic lung disease, breathing can be difficult and even frightening.

Otsego Memorial Hospital (OMH) will be offering a Healthy Lungs presentation on Wednesday, April 11, at 6 p.m., in the OMH Professional Building Conference Room. Healthy Lungs is a community presentation for everyone, especially persons living with lung disease and breathing problems such as Chronic Obstructive Lung Disease (COPD), asthma, allergies, emphysema, and chronic bronchitis.

COPD is a group of lung diseases that cause breathing problems. There are three main diseases included in the COPD group — emphysema, chronic bronchitis, and asthma. These diseases have one thing in common: they limit the flow of air into and out of the lungs. As a result, a person with COPD may cough, wheeze, have excess mucous, feel fatigued, or have shortness of breath. This can interfere significantly with one's activities of daily living and may cause stress and anguish for the individual and their family.

"Most often, there is no cure for COPD," said Paul Hagan, RRT, Director of the Cardiopulmonary Department at OMH. "However, the good news is that with education and simple modifications to daily activities, the ease of breathing and level of comfort can improve. People with COPD will see considerable improvement in their breathing and in their day-to-day activities if they follow a prescribed program of fitness and therapy," said Hagan.

"Our goal is that you leave the class with a good understanding of your breathing medications, breathing techniques to control shortness of breath, healthy nutrition tips, simple exercise techniques and how to care for yourself (mind, body and spirit) when you have chronic lung disease," Hagan said. This class will help participants learn the basics of how the respiratory system works and there will be discussion of specific lung diseases and how they can affect breathing.

"If you have been diagnosed with a respiratory or lung disease, we strongly suggest that you gain as much knowledge as you can and carefully follow a treatment plan," Hagan said. "These are the most important steps for you to stay healthy, feel good, and do all the things you want to do." COPD education programs can help participants learn to take control over lung disease. Family and friends and others who may not have respiratory illness but are interested in learning more about lung disease and the educational and rehabilitation services available at Otsego Memorial Hospital are welcome to attend. There is no charge to attend the presentation and no RSVP is required.

If you have questions contact the OMH Health Education Coordinator at (989) 731-2193. The OMH Professional Medical Building Conference Room is located on the northwest corner of the Hospital.

Buddy Week starts on April 9

Secretary of State Terri Lynn Land is asking Michigan residents to "show their heart" by signing up to be organ and tissue donors during Buddy Week, which begins Monday, April 9.

Enrollees will receive a heart sticker designating their wish for their driver's license or state identification card. With the sticker in place, there is no need to fill out the organ donor information on the back of the card. The heart sticker campaign began Jan. 1 and continues until the programming that allows licenses and ID cards to be "branded" with a permanent heart logo is in place.

April is designated nationally as "Donate Life Month," and the Department of State, Gift of Life Michigan and Michigan Eye-Bank sponsor Buddy Week in recognition of organ donation's benefits and to highlight the critical need for donors. During Buddy Week, organ and tissue donor supporters, or Buddies, meet with the public at Secretary of State offices to promote enrollment on the Michigan Organ Donor Registry.

"This is an event I look forward to each year because you cannot meet the donors, donor families and recipients and not be moved by their tremendous stories," Land said. "Although it can be difficult to talk about, organ donation really does transform lives. I am proud of the work our organ donor advocates have done to promote this worthy cause and will enjoy meeting with them and the public throughout Buddy Week."

Buddy Week begins on Monday, April 9 with a news conference hosted by Land in Detroit. Tuesday, April 10 is designated as "Buddy Day," and 298 Gift of Life Michigan and Michigan Eye-Bank Buddies will visit 133 branch offices from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. to distribute organ donor information. Buddies have either had a transplant or are waiting for one, or they are a donor family member or donation supporter.

Land said the weeklong emphasis will be to encourage residents to add their names to the registry, including different segments of the population, such as those in the corporate, educational, health-care and government sectors.

The department's Web site makes registering easy with its online enrollment program at www.Michigan.gov/sos. Branch office clerks are also happy to enroll any customers who ask to have their names added to the registry.

Gift of Life Michigan is the state's certified, full-service organ recovery organization. The agency acts as an intermediary between donors, physicians and hospital staff. For more information about organ donation, contact Gift of Life Michigan at (800) 482-4881 or www.giftoflifemichigan.org.

The Michigan Eye-Bank's mission is the restoration of sight by educating people about the ongoing need for eye donors. To learn more, call (800) 247-7250 or visit the organization's Web site at www.michiganeyebank.org.

For more information about Department of State organ donation initiatives, visit its Web site at www.Michigan.gov/sos.

The Bible Speaks

Justified for Life

Romans 5:9 taught us: "Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him." The shed blood and death of Jesus Christ assures those who are justified by faith in Him that they face no future wrath. Now in Romans 5:10 we are assured we will live forever through faith in the resurrection life of Jesus Christ. "For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life." As Jesus promised in John 10:28,29: "And I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand. My Father, which gave them me, is greater than all; and no man is able to pluck them out of my Father's hand."

We shall live eternally because Jesus Christ is our mediator with God the Father. "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." (1 Tim. 2:5). He is "the mediator of the new testament," (Heb. 9:15). He is the mediator of the new covenant. (Heb. 12:24). He is not only the only mediator between God and man, but also of the New Testament and New Covenant which give us God's promise and assurance of eternal life.

We shall live eternally because Jesus Christ is our advocate with God the Father. "My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." As Jesus promised us in John 5:24,25: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life. 25 Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live."

We shall live eternally because Jesus Christ is our intercessor. "Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us." (Rom. 8:34). "Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them." (Heb. 7:25).

We shall live eternally because Jesus Christ is our high priest before the Father. "IWherefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession, Christ Jesus." (Heb. 3:1). "24For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us." (Heb. 9:24).

"17Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people." (Heb. 2:17). "1Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such a high priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens." (Heb. 8:1). "14Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession." (Heb. 4:14). By faith in the death, burial, and resurrection of Jesus Christ we can know we have eternal life. Pastor "B"

Card of Thanks

On behalf of the dogs and cats at the shelter, we would like to thank the following for their help in making our first quarter of 2007 wonderfully successful:

3rd Annual Snowmobile Fun Run - All riders and participants; sponsors/organizers Mary Becker and Jerry Gosnell; host stops Ole Barn, Dingman's Bar, Sawmill Tavern, and Holiday Inn; and all businesses and individuals who donated prizes, event promotion and goods. This year's event was the best one yet!

The management and staff of Big Boy Restaurant of Grayling for holding their own Gimme Shelter fund raiser to help build our new shelter.

The management and staff of Gray Rock Café for donating proceeds from their Superbowl Party to help the animals and for selling the most hearts during the annual "Have A Heart" campaign.

To all the other businesses that participated in the "Have A Heart" Campaign: S&K Marathon, Grayling Hospital for Animals, Brookside Beauty Salon, Ole Dam Party Store, Charlie's Country Corners, Sawmill Tavern, McLean's Ace Hardware, 7-Eleven, The Medicine Shoppe, Rochette's IGA, Northern Tails, Lone Pine Restaurant, Westside Diner, DuBois Lumber, Ole Barn, Northland Area Federal Credit Union, and Xpress Copy Center.

To the dedicated veterinarians and staff of the Grayling Hospital for Animals for all their loving care to all our shelter animals, especially our dear boy, Thor.

To Alexandra Mosel for all her dedicated volunteer work and fund raising efforts. Congratulations! You are a wonderful example for all ages, not just teens.

Low Cost Shot Clinic - Donna Simons, DVM, and her dedicated staff; Linda Golnick and Milliman Communications; and all those who volunteered their time to help out.

To Harold and Dee Maas, Bob and Kay Doty, Chris and Boots Wright, Susan Boyd, Shelter Director Cheryl Postma, Assistants Autumn Roberts, Karen Holem and Alice Ray; your unending devotion to all the animals is very much appreciated by all.

Animal Shelter of Crawford County Board of Directors

In 1849, a fellow named Walter Hunt discovered a way to make a safer pin. Because of his safety pin, an invention that has remained virtually unchanged, millions of trousers, jackets and baby's diapers have been successfully held together.

When something is good, its value is everlasting.

The same is true today with home, auto and farm insurance from Pioneer State Mutual.

Fair. Comprehensive. Competitive.

GPA travelogue visits the sun states

The Grayling Promotional Association Entertainment Series 34th season of the Travel and Adventure Series will present, on the big screen, "The Real World of The Sun States" on April 12 at the Rialto Theatre, downtown Grayling.

For more than 20 years, travel adventure producer, Rick Howard, has been making movies in the world's most exotic places. He does an annual film lecture tour performing for audiences throughout the United States.

This much travel on the roads of America exposes one to a lot of American adventures. Howard has returned to some of the most beautiful and exciting places to make a movie of fun in the sun, water sports, and great American stories.

The adventure will transport you from California to Florida while visiting some of the most beautiful and interesting places in between.

Explore the fascinating kelp forests of the underwater world of the California coast. Watch expert surfers riding perfectly shaped waves on Southern California beaches. Visit the Big Sur Coast, Hurst Castle, Yosemite and Sequoia National Parks. Ride the white eater rapids with the river rafters of the California gold country.

Cross the country in Florida. Visit a different more tropical under sea world, where treasure hunter Mel Fisher discovered and brought up the world's largest under sea treasure ever found. More than four hundred million dollars in Spanish gold, silver, and precious jewels.

Visit the home of and glimpse into the life of Ernest Hemingway who lived, fished, drank, and wrote his best and most classic novels in his tropical mansion on Key West.

In Central Florida, see the exotic wildlife animal life living in the jungles and swamps of the Everglades. Join the sun seekers on the beaches of Ft. Lauderdale, and witness the horror of hurricane Andrew.

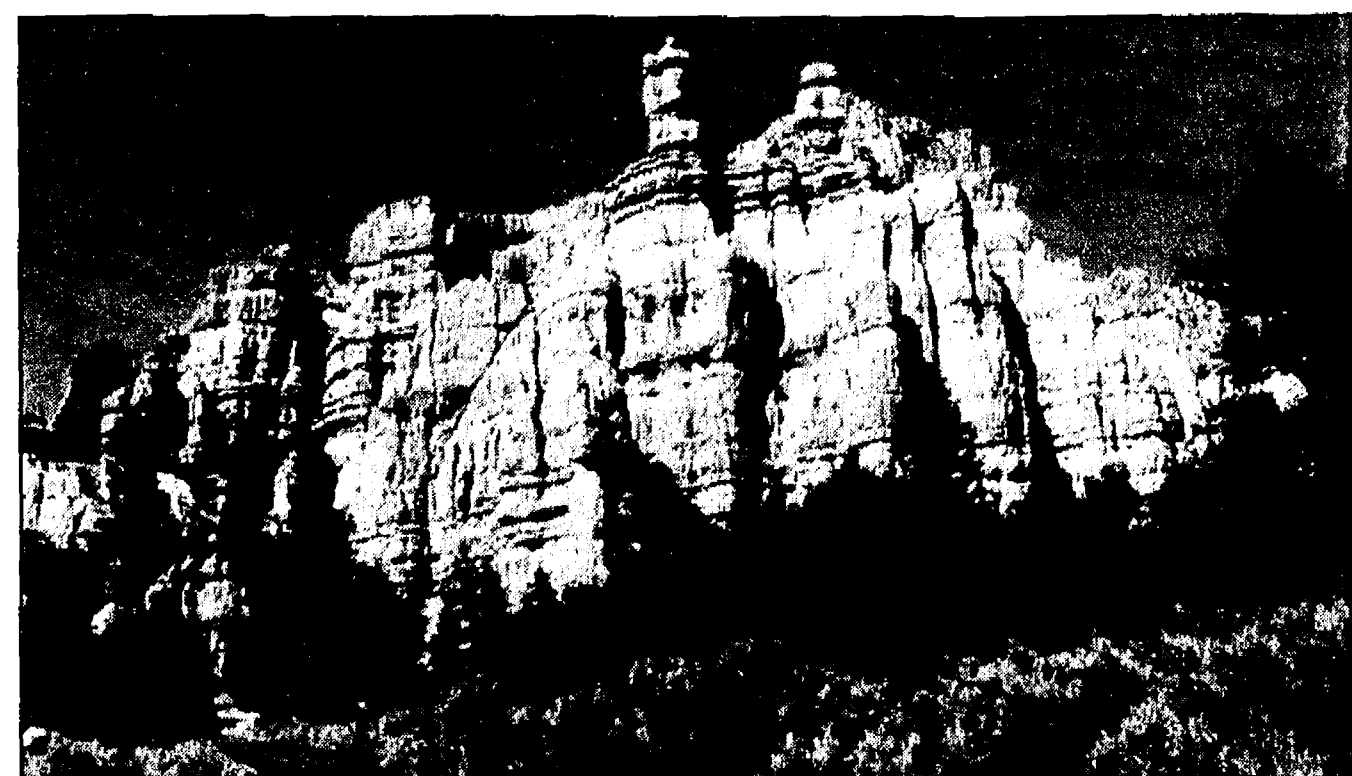

In Louisiana, join the excitement of Mardi Gras. In Arizona visit the Grand Canyon, and in Utah, explore Bryce and Zion National Parks and Forests. Even the glittering night lights of Las Vegas are seen from above.

While watching all of this and more, learn how one adventure movie maker, Rick Howard, got into and now lives this life in his film, "The Real World of The Sun States."

Doors open at 6:45 p.m., the show will begin at 7:30 p.m. and last approximately 90 minutes. Tickets are priced at $8 for adults and $7 for seniors and students, and are available at the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce or at the door.

For more information on this performance or a schedule for the upcoming series, call the Chamber at 989-348-2921.

The Travel and Adventure Series is made possible with the generous support of lead sponsor Fick and Sons, Inc. of Grayling, in partnership with the Grayling Promotional Association, area businesses and corporations, grants from the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs and the Michigan Humanities Council.

Visit "The Real World of The Sun States" with the Grayling Promotional Association's Travel and Adventure, with live presenter Rick Howard, at the Rialto Theatre on Thursday, April 12.

Business fair and job expo to be held at GHS

A business fair and job expo will be held from 3 p.m. - 6 p.m., Thursday, April 19, in the cafeteria at Grayling High School. Businesses will showcase their business and network with others. Job seekers will be able to apply on-site for full-time, seasonal, and part-time employment opportunities.

According to Kay Cosgray, CCEDP chair and business liaison for Grayling Michigan Works, "This business expo and job fair will bring employers and employees together, creating opportunity for both.

Networking is an effective tool to create synergies with other businesses and for business, small and large, to enhance the local workforce."

Tim Zigala, Grayling Chamber of Commerce president, stated, "The business expo gives community members a chance to see what services and products are available locally while the job fair gives potential employees a direct connection to area employers."

Grayling Chamber of Commerce, Grayling Michigan Works, Grayling High School, and Crawford County Economic Development Partnership (CCEDP) will sponsor the fair and expo.

A Business after Hours will be hosted by Chemical Bank, from 6 p.m. - 8 p.m., also in the Grayling High School cafeteria.

For more information, or to reserve booth space at the fair and expo, contact Kay Cosgray at 989-348-8709, or by email at CosgrayK@miworks-nemc.gen.mi.us.

Grayling High School students participate in Youth in Government

Grayling High School sent 12 students to this year's state conference for Michigan Youth in Government. The conference was held in Lansing from March 7-11. This year marked the 59th annual Michigan Youth in Government conference. Grayling High School had its largest delegation in recent years, and was part of the largest state conference ever. Participants from this year were: Peter Alexander, John Cochrane, Brianna Farrell, William Fowler, Kayla Hawes, Andria Howe, Amber McCleave, Dylan Nye, Cassandra Pizzi, Emily Sloan, Kilah Vanderstelt, and Rachel Wilson.

Michigan Youth in Government has two spring state conferences each year. This year, Grayling High School attended the early conference in March. Next year, GHS will attend the April conference.

During this year's conference, the Grayling High School delegation was able to personally meet with Governor Jennifer Granholm. This was a very unique opportunity. The governor was very cordial to the group and welcomed them to the capital.

Michigan Youth in Government is a program sponsored by the state YMCA. This program allows students to learn about our state government, using a hands-on approach. The students participate in a mock government, which resembles the real government of the state of Michigan. Participants have an opportunity to be involved in all three formal branches of government (legislative, executive, and judicial), as well as the informal processes, involved in government (the written and electronic press, as well as lobbyists).

All participants in Michigan Youth in Government must write legislative bills to attend the conference. At the conference, these bills are debated, using parliamentary procedure. If the bills pass both houses of the legislature, they will then go to the youth governor, who will either veto them or sign them. "It is quite an accomplishment for any bill to get out of its committee, or to pass through one of the houses," said Darrin Hawes GHS advisor. "This year, four GHS students had their bills get out of committees, with two passing at least one house. Students who had their bills get out of committee include Hawes, Farrell, Sloan, and Vanderstelt. Hawes and Vanderstelt actually had bills that were passed through at least one house."

Students, from Grayling High School, who participate in Youth in Government, must pay for their participation, which was $325 this year. All advisors must also pay for their expenses, which come to $350. All participants must also pay for most of their meals. Money was raised this year by the students and their advisor to help off-set some of these costs. Contributors that helped make this year's program possible are: Northern Driving School, Fick & Sons, DuBois Lumber and Rent-all, Heads Up North, RE/Max of Grayling, Grayling Family Dentistry, Denholm Family Chiropractic, Glen's Market, Edward Jones of Grayling, Hometown Furniture and Design Center, Rooyaker and Sitz Accounting, Spicy Bob's, Grayling Kiwanis Club, and Hungry Howie's Pizza. The Crawford County Democratic Party and Grayling Youth Booster Club also made large donations to the group. "Thank You" to all involved.

Darrin Hawes, the advisor of the GHS delegation, said he is proud of all of the students who participated and encourages more students to get involved next year.

Dance team finishes season undefeated

Students from the Louise Tournaud School of Dance, (soon to be re-named Dancin Feet) finished out their season of competition on March 18, in Bay City. The team took 11 first places, highest choreography award and the largest trophy for first place production number, Circle of Life. Students Devon Bobenmoyer and Kelsey Gilbert took first places on their solo dances. "I am so proud of the girls," says Louise Tournaud.

The 30 year old studio in Grayling, suffered a $46,000 loss last year due to flooding from a broken water pipe and had to be shut down. A year later the studio is up and running strong. "We may have been flooded, but we aren't washed up," said Tournaud.

The team went to three competitions this year Dance America, Starquest and I Love Dance. First places were scored at all of them.

A dance recital will be held on Saturday, June 16, at 4 p.m., at Roscommon High School. "The girls have put a lot of hard work and heart into their dancing. I hope the communities will come and support their local artistic athletes," said Tournaud. The theme is Jungle Jams 2007.

Kirtland board calls special meeting as field for college's next president narrows

The Kirtland Community College Board of Trustees has scheduled a special meeting for 7 p.m. on Monday, April 9, at the Kirtland House on its main campus near Roscommon, as college officials continue to work toward naming a successor to Dr. Charles Rorie, Kirtland's president since 2000.

At least 29 potential applicants have thrown their hats into the ring to become the seventh president of local two-year college, established in 1966.

The search for a successor to Rorie started last fall after he announced his intentions to retire as of June 30. In October 2006, the KCC Board of Trustees hired search consultant David Ponitz, president emeritus of Sinclair Community College of Ohio.

According to Dale Shantz, Kirtland's director of human resources, Ponitz reviewed applications and conducted preliminary reference checks before recently submitting a list of more than a dozen recommended candidates to the Advisory Committee. The committee, which includes various administrators, staff members and individuals from the public sector, met on Monday, April 2, to narrow that list to four finalists and two alternates.

"(Ponitz) has 14 names that meet the requirements that were set," Shantz said. "We also had a couple of late applicants."

Shantz, the board's liaison to Ponitz and member of Advisory Committee, updated KCC board members at their regular monthly meeting March 15. At that time, it was requested that the board schedule a special meeting for April 9 to discuss the committee's recommendations.

The board of trustees will interview the finalists, before offering the college's top administrative post to the winning candidate. KCC officials hope to reach an agreement with that individual and have them report for their first day on the job on or about July 2.

To date, the applicant pool includes one current college president and 12 vice presidents, with 22 of the candidates having already earned doctorate degrees. Twelve of the applicants call Michigan home, while the job posting has also drawn interest from persons in Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, Ohio, Vermont, Pennsylvania and New York.

The winning candidate will oversee Kirtland's main campus located near Roscommon, as well as the Michigan Technical Education Center (M-TEC) in Gaylord. Currently, about 2,300 students attend a variety of certificate and two-year degree programs at the two campuses.

KCC's service area includes all or parts of Crawford, Oscoda, Ogemaw, Roscommon, Otsego, Kalkaska, Missaukee, Gladwin and Alcona counties, as well as the surrounding areas.

For more information on the presidential search, contact Shantz by calling 989-275-5000, extension 271, or via e-mail at shantztd@kirtland.edu

In Memory of

Lorrie Ann Decker-Miller
June 18, 1963-April 5, 1993

God quietly whispered your name,
And then you were gone,
Leaving the rest of us praying
For just one more word...

One more hug...
One more "I love you."
Sharing your life
was a gift from God
That has been replaced
With the gift of your memory.

So even though your human arms
Can no longer embrace us,
We are enfolded warmly
In the love you left behind.

And even though your laughter
No longer rings in our ears,
It still resonates in our hearts
When we think of you.

These gifts of your memory will be ours forever,
And will be guarded like treasure with our souls,
As we wait to be united once again
In the glory of heaven.

Love always,
Bill, Dee Decker
Cyndi, Doug, Andrea
and Brittany Yanniello

Family members protest police labor issues

shifts to cover the schedule. Thayer said he is attempting to reduce the city's exposure to liability.

"If an officer makes a mistake because they are tired or fatigued, the city is going to be responsible," Thayer said.

Patti Coe, the wife of Police Officer Tim Coe, said changing the long-time practice of working 12-hours shifts will cut into family time, leading to further morale issues within the department.

"Police work in general is not a very family-friendly occupation," Patti Coe said.

Family members said the morale of the officers is at an all time low, and believe Grayling Police Chief Karl Schreiner is being micromanaged by other city officials.

"If the city manager is acting as the police chief, why do we pay the police chief to do his job?" Coe asked.

Roger Moshier, the mayor pro-tem for the Grayling City Council, encouraged family members to express their concerns to city council members so that they can make an informed decision on the shift change issue.

"I just thought that going to eight hours would reduce the stress of the job," Moshier said.

City police are currently negotiating an employment contract, which has failed to be resolved in two mediation hearings.

Thayer said the main issue is that officers are seeking an enhanced pension benefit. He said that Detective Dennis Long, and Officers Karl DeVries and Robert Butzin are seeking the pension benefit before they retire from the department.

The enhanced benefit would require the city to pay $72,000. Thayer said that normally, employees seek the increased pension benefit earlier in their careers, then contribute by foregoing other benefits while they are still employed.

"It's kind of like they want us to create a golden parachute, and that's difficult to do," Thayer said.

One benefit city officials would like officers to forego is the pay received for working on holidays. Currently, officers receive time and a half, plus an additional eight hours of pay if they work on a holiday. Officers maintain that they are required to be paid the additional eight hours. Thayer argues that it is not a customary practice to pay the additional hours at any other police agency in the state.

The contract with the police is heading for a binding arbitration hearing, which will likely be held this fall. Thayer said he is hopeful that the contract can be resolved considering the current economic climate in the state.

"In good times it's scary to go to arbitration," Thayer said. "In bad times, they should be the ones that are trying to avoid it."

Kate DeVries, the daughter of Police Officer Karl DeVries, said the unresolved contract and shift change are causing undue stress on the officers.

"They do nothing but bend over backwards for everyone but themselves," Kate DeVries said.

The city's Department of Public Works employees rejected a contract offer last week. Thayer said the public works employees are paid when they are on call if they have to respond to work. The employee receives four and a half hours at time and a half, an additional two and a half hours at time and a half if they are required to respond to work and the time spent working. City officials have proposed to reduce the contract so that public works employees would just be paid for two and a half hours at time and a half if they are on call.

"When I look at the budget, I'm trying to cut what I see and unwise expenditures and that is an unwise expenditure," Thayer said.

Baseball team prepares for next week's season opener

Etzler, Herrick, Jones, and Mastej are the team's four returning seniors.

"The team will be led by senior Derek Etzler. Etzler, a four-year player at the varsity level, will move from behind the plate to anchor center field. Derek will also see action on the mound," Coach John Schneider said. "Jordan Herrick will be one of the every day catchers for the Vikes. Herrick has worked really hard and has improved. Brian Mastej will be used as a utility player as well as Ben Jones, both in the infield and outfield."

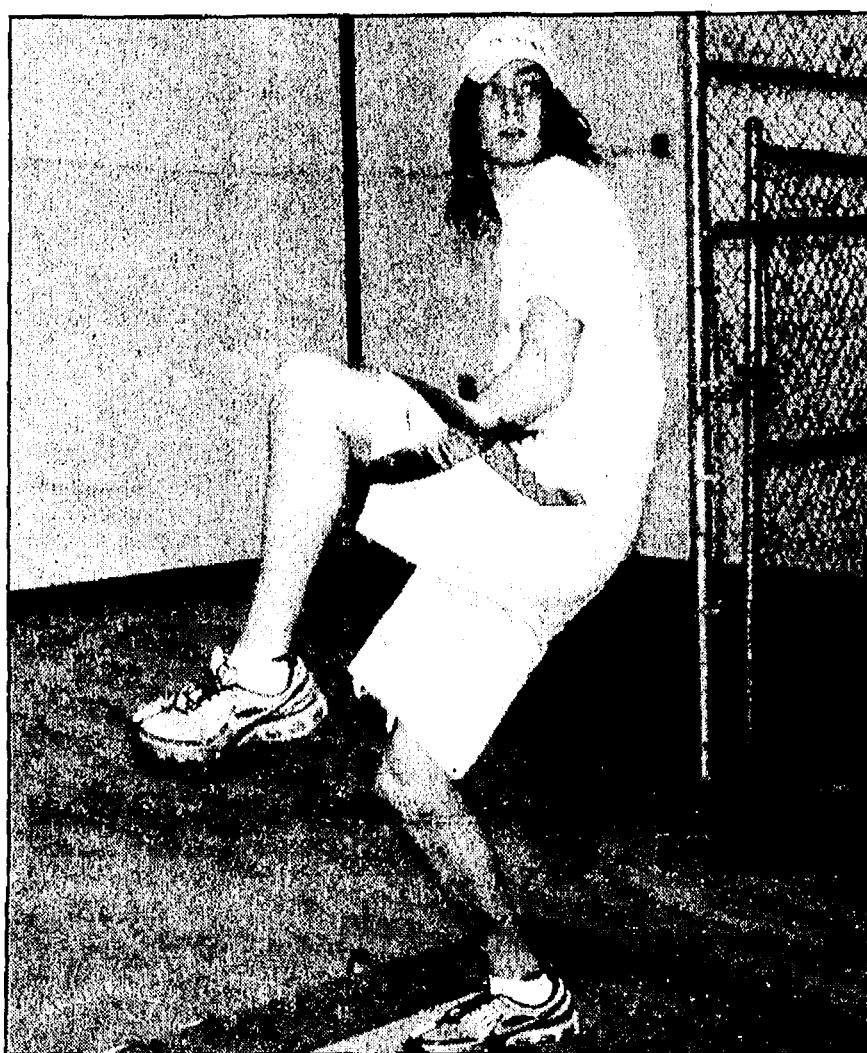

The team's other three seniors - Slater, Bancroft, and Hart - did not play baseball last year.

"Three other seniors will be playing for the first time. Doug Slater and Jeff Bancroft will be playing two sports for GHS this season. Slater is a very good tennis player and is a very good pitcher and shortstop. (He) excelled on last year's summer baseball team. Jeff Bancroft is a track man, and will also be part of the baseball program. Bancroft is an outstanding all-around student athlete," Coach Schneider said. "Rounding out the senior group is Andy Hart. Hart is in his first season. He has worked extremely hard in practice and has been a really nice surprise."

"Leading the group of juniors are Richie Schreiber, Rocky McNamara, and Josh Stapleton. These three will be starters on the infield this season. Richie last season was the rookie of the year for the team. Schreiber has the potential to be one of the top players in the league this season. McNamara is an outstanding hitter, which he showed last season, going 2 for 3 in the district win over Gaylord. Rocky will be a stable at first base. Stapleton, who is a very talented infielder, will see action at shortstop and second base, as well as on the mound. Ethan Neuberger, Andy Hulbert, and Lucas Pippin - all outfielders - are battling for a starting spot in right and left fields. Neuberger has worked extremely hard in the off season and has really improved. Tyler Harris, a first year player, has been working hard in developing his game," Coach Schneider said.

The team's one sophomore, Jacob Aubry, saw limited time on the varsity squad last year.

"Aubry is an intelligent, steady infielder who will see a lot of action this season," Coach Schneider said. "The team is blending together nicely and working extremely hard," Coach Schneider said. "We are looking to improve over last season, and should with the attitude of this year's players."

"We've got everyone coming back," said Coach Brian Banda. "We'll be good enough to compete with anyone this year, which will be nice. As long as things go like they should, we'll be back (in the state finals) again."

Coach Banda said a higher finish than last year's (11th) at the state finals is within reach, since all five of the team's primary scorers now have experience at the state meet. Last year, "the teams that finished ahead of us, and the girls that finished ahead of ours had been there before," he said.

Banda said he hopes the leadership from the team's top two golfers - Calkins, a junior, and

Wheeler, a senior - will help the younger golfers on the team develop. "Leadership will help the younger girls," Coach Banda said. "Our fourth and fifth girls will be the true test. That's the true test - if you can get four girls to golf on a consistent basis."

"We should win a few of the tournaments we're in this year. We hope to finish in the top two at the Alma tournament. That will be a good test - some of the top teams in north and central Michigan will be there," Coach Banda said. The team started practicing last week and will play its first meet on Tuesday, April 17, at 4 p.m. at Grayling Country Club.

Your Health Matters

Minor pains could mean major problems

"Dr. Cvitkovich, I've been experiencing pain in my stomach when bending over or lifting something. Should I be concerned?"

Pain like that can be caused by many conditions, however what you describe could be the symptoms of a hernia. There are several kinds of hernias, so I would encourage you to schedule an appointment with your doctor or myself for an accurate diagnosis. If you feel nauseated, are vomiting, or are unable to have a bowel movement, you should seek medical care immediately. At Mercy Hospital Grayling, we can repair a hernia using a laparoscope, a small, telescope-like instrument that

4th annual martial arts tournament to be held in Grayling on April 13-14

■ Battle at the 45th Parallel to include Night Time Finals at GHS auditorium

The 4th Annual Battle at the 45th Parallel, an open martial arts tournament featuring hundreds of competitors and over 1,000 spectators, will be held at Grayling High School next week on Friday and Saturday, April 13-14.

The event, which is organized by New World Karate (NWK), a local martial arts school, had more than 500 competitors last year and about 1,400 spectators total throughout the two-day tournament. NWK is expecting similar numbers for the 2007 event.

"With the economy the way it is in Michigan, we're expecting about 1,200 spectators and 450 to 500 competitors," said Larry Burns of NWK. "I'm sure we'll have a gym-full like last year."

The 4th Annual Battle at the 45th Parallel will start on Friday, April 13, at 5 p.m. with the following divisions: weapons, breaking, continuous sparring, self-defense, and team sparring.

On Saturday, starting at 10 a.m., the tournament will feature traditional forms, open forms, and point sparring.

The tournament will move to the GHS auditorium on Saturday evening with the Night Time Finals — a new feature added to the Battle at the 45th Parallel last year. The Night Time Finals start at 6:30 p.m. and will feature the top competitors in most of the blackbelt divisions dueling on stage to determine division champions. Events that will be showcased at the finals will include breaking, self-defense, weapons, and sparring.

Tickets for the Saturday night finals are $5 (general admission) or $10 (VIP seating). Tickets will be available at the event.

After the Night Time Finals, the event will host a teen dance for competitors and people from the general public (ages 13-20) at the Grayling Holiday Inn from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. Admission fee is $5.

For more on the Battle at the 45th Parallel, contact NWK at 344-6083 or visit the school's website: www.teamnwk.com.

PUBLIC NOTICE

MICHIGAN ARMY NATIONAL GUARD INVITATION TO COMMENT ON THE DRAFT PROPOSED MULTIPLE LAUNCH ROCKET SYSTEM FIRING ON CAMP GRAYLING MANAGEMENT AGREEMENT LANDS

The Michigan Army National Guard (MIARNG) is proposing to fire the Multiple Launch Rocket System (MLRS) from Michigan Department of Natural Resources management agreement lands located in Kalkaska County until May of 2014. The current land use management agreement signed in 2004 allows limited military training on nearly 47,000 acres of state owned lands. The Proposed Action would allow firing of the Multiple Launch Rocket System (MLRS) from state lands located southwest of the City of Grayling in Section 19 of Garfield East Township, Kalkaska County into the "fenced-in" Range 13 impact area located in Beaver Creek West Township, Crawford County.

In addition to the Proposed Action, the Draft Environmental Assessment (EA) evaluates the No-Action Alternative which would not allow firing of the MLRS on nearly 47,000 acres of management agreement lands currently available for limited training. MLRS training would continue on North Post lands located near the Range 30 Complex under either alternative.

Safety and noise concerns were raised by the public during the comment review of the 2004 EA regarding extension of the original 1984 land use agreement. That EA included a proposal to fire MLRS on management agreement lands. The decision to fire the MLRS on agreement lands was postponed at that time and the alternative to "Extend the Current Management Agreement to 2014 with No Modifications" was selected. Further research was completed to address these issues and the MIARNG is proposing to fire MLRS on current management agreement lands.

An analysis of the environmental impacts of these proposed actions is presented in a Draft EA, which is available for public review and comment. Copies of the Draft EA have been mailed to individuals that participated in the EA process as well as federal, state, and local agencies; interested organizations and agencies; and public libraries. Copies may be reviewed at the Camp Grayling Environmental Office, Building 30, Camp Grayling, MI 49739, during normal business hours, and at the Crawford County Library, 201 Plum St., Grayling, MI 49738. Library hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., Mon.-Fri., and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Sat. This assessment will be available for review for 15 days starting April 5, 2007. Written public comment concerning this proposal is invited.

Comments must be received no later than April 20, 2007 and addressed to Michigan Army National Guard, Attention: CPT Dancer, Public Affairs Officer, 2500 S. Washington Ave., Lansing, MI. 48913. Telephone calls may also be directed to MAJ Dawn Dancer, Public Affairs Officer, Headquarters, Michigan Army National Guard, (517) 483-5600.

Board response: We are not suing the DNR but are hoping to find ways to adjust the clear cutting practices so as not to severely effect recreational and highly visible areas of the community. Concern is with current clear cutting practices not forest management. Have contacted the N. Lower Michigan Economic Regional Development Council for assistance, also, Representative Joel Sheltrown, Chair of the House Tourism, Outdoor Recreation and Natural Resources Committee as well as other interested parties.

HOROSCOPES

For the week of April 5, 2007

Let your instincts be your guide this week, Capricorn. You know what you want and you don't need anyone to tell you. A coworker returns a favor.

This is no time to be shy. You've worked long and hard on your idea and you deserve to shine. Step out of the shadows and get out there.

Uh-ho, Cancer. A dark secret is about to be revealed. Be prepared to face the consequences. A weekend road trip gives you the chance to spread your wings.

Brace yourself, Libra. Trouble looms. Whatever you do, don't get involved. Leave it to someone else to resolve. Travel plans hit a snag—move quickly.

The pettiness of others is starting to get to you. Step back for a moment and take some time to yourself to rejuvenate. Signs of promise begin to appear.

Don't cut corners this week, Taurus, or you could damage a business relationship, along with your reputation. A chat with a neighbor lifts a burden.

Humility, not pride, is the theme this week. Be humble in what you say and do and the world will be yours for the taking. Test results prove positive.

Don't jump to conclusions this week, Scorpio, or you could wind up losing a friendship. An encounter with nature looms large in your memory.

Get ready, Pisces. A financial situation is about to get sticky. Don't leave anything to chance. Get all of your paperwork together and proceed with caution.

Uh-ho, Gemini. Flattery will get you nowhere. Can the charm and focus on the project at hand. The deadline is growing closer by the minute. A meeting ends with a bang!

This is your one chance to get away from it all. Toss away your reservations and accept an invite. You'll meet a slew of people and make lots of memories.

Play it safe this week, Sagittarius. Now's not the time to take risks. If a financial proposal seems too good to be true, it probably is. A thank-you note brings a smile to your face.
